WHY AEGIS SHIELD IS BETTER SUITED FOR YOUR CLIENTS:

- Since 9/11, an event on U.S. soil has never been certified as an act of Terrorism and therefore TRIA remains untested for its loss payment. AEGIS Shield coverage offers a broad and tested definition of terrorism that has paid multiple claims across the globe.
- TRIA sets a high bar for claims to be made: large financial policy triggers, deductible that have increased year on year since 2016* and federal certification. Conversely, AEGIS Shield addresses each claim individually, directly and promptly.
- AEGIS Shield can offer 24 month policies.
- Put simply, TRIA is a back-stop solution for the insurance industry, while AEGIS Shield is a solution for your clients.

Tailored Terrorism Coverage

A Modern Way to Access the World's Oldest Insurance Market.

Quite simply, AEGIS London's OPAL system provides quotes and policy documentation in a fraction of the time it normally takes, making a broker's life easier and a client's experience better. The system can be white-labelled so that policy documentation is delivered with a brand or logo.

What sits behind is AEGIS London's promise to deliver excellent service backed up by our dedicated claims team, deemed "outstanding" by one of the Lloyd's market's leading claims surveys.

Those who use OPAL find that it saves them time, helps grow business and gives customers products they want. OPAL truly does what it says it will - deliver great customer service, providing pricing and complete policy documentation with minimum hassle.

OPAL naturally lends itself to handling smaller business, which can be burdensome to handle in traditional ways. List of US Incidents Since 9/11

TRIA and AEGIS Shield, Different Responses to the Same Event.

The 9/11 Terrorist attacks saw 27.125 billion USD of insured property losses (Statistica Research Department). In 2002 TRIA was introduced by President George W Bush.

TIMES SQUARE BOMBING

Small bomb placed in front of a US Armed Forces recruiting station. No injuries and little property damage.

TRIA did not pay out because less than $5m of property damage was caused. AEGIS Shield does not require a monetary amount of damage to trigger and respond to threats & hoaxes as well as covering evacuation expenses.

2008

FAILED TIMES SQUARE CAR BOMBING

No incident took place and no damage occurred. TRIA does not cover threat, hoax or evacuation expenses unlike AEGIS Shield.

BOSTON MARATHON

TRIA did not pay out due to insured losses falling below the $5m requirement and this was not a certified act of terrorism by the US Government.

AEGIS Shield can include terrorism liability for similar incidence where there may be third party claims for bodily injury or property damage, as well as covering up to 250,000 USD for contingent business interruption.

2013

ORLANDO NIGHTCLUB SHOOTING

Was not certified as an act of terrorism despite being deemed an act of terrorism by FBI investigators, therefore TRIA was not triggered.

AEGIS Shield has a clear definition of terrorism and includes $1m sublimit for Active Assailant events.

EL PASO WALMART SHOOTING

Certified as an act of terrorism by the US Government but insufficient property damage to trigger TRIA.

AEGIS Shield does not require a monetary amount of damage to trigger. The Active Assailant sublimit would also have been triggered by this incident.

2019

2020

NASHVILLE BOMBING

Motivation unknown but not yet certified. Will take many months for any type of government certification, if any.

This incident would have triggered the threat/hoax sub-limit available with AEGIS Shield, even whilst the motivation of the attack was unclear.
